National Horse Show

A Heritage Event Unparalleled in Tradition

Founded in 1883 in the original Madison Square Garden in New York, NY, the National Horse Show is the country's oldest indoor horse show and a highlight on all national and international equestrian and social calendars.

From 1915 through 1925, The National became an American military competition. Notable competitors included Generals John J. "Black Jack" Pershing, William "Billy" Mitchell, and George S. Patton. In 1915, Eleanora Sears became the first woman to ride and compete "astride" at the National Horse Show. In 1926, the National Horse Show moved to the third Madison Square Garden located on 8th Avenue and 50th Street, where it would remain for the next 40 years. Then, in 1968, the National Horse Show moved to the present Madison Square Garden at Pennsylvania Plaza.

After three years in Syracuse, NY, the National Horse Show moved to its current home at Alltech Arena at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington, KY-- the Horse Capital of the World and home to the 2010 Alltech World Equestrian Games (WEG).

National Horse Show

The Nation's Premiere Annual Equestrian Event

Every year, The National Horse Show hosts an estimated 600 horses and 350 riders from around the globe at the nation's oldest and longest running indoor equestrian event. The popularity of the show skyrocketed entries, so much that hundreds of horses and riders are waitlisted-annually.

The 2024 National Horse Show will be held Oct. 23-Nov 3 at the iconic Kentucky Horse Park in Alltech Arena. The National Horse Show offers equitation championships, including the Hamel Foundation NHS 3'3" Eq. Championship, the Taylor Harris Insurance Services NHS 3' Adult Eq. Championships and a day of age group equitation classes.

The National Horse Show is home to the $50,000 Hunter Classic and the ASPCA Maclay Finals presented by Chansonette Farm.

The National Horse Show is a 501c3 organization, supported by many charitable donors like the Hamel Family Foundation, WSJ Foundation, The Gochman Family, and more. Sponsoring companies include; Longines, Horseflight, Taylor Harris Insurance Services, John Deere, and many, many more.
