A Heritage Event Unparalleled in Tradition

Founded in 1883 in the original Madison Square Garden in New York, NY, the National Horse Show is the country's oldest indoor horse show and a highlight on all national and international equestrian and social calendars.

From 1915 through 1925, The National became an American military competition. Notable competitors included Generals John J. "Black Jack" Pershing, William "Billy" Mitchell, and George S. Patton. In 1915, Eleanora Sears became the first woman to ride and compete "astride" at the National Horse Show. In 1926, the National Horse Show moved to the third Madison Square Garden located on 8th Avenue and 50th Street, where it would remain for the next 40 years.

Then, in 1968, the National Horse Show moved to the present Madison Square Garden at Pennsylvania Plaza.

After three years in Syracuse, NY, the National Horse Show moved to Alltech Arena at the Kentucky Horse Park, where it was held for 14 years. Beginning in 2026, the National Horse Show will proudly call the Tryon International Equestrian Center home, pending USEF approval.

The Nation's Premiere Annual Equestrian Event

Every year, The National Horse Show hosts an estimated 600 horses and 350 riders from around the globe at the nation's oldest and longest-running indoor equestrian event. The popularity of the show has caused entries to skyrocket, with hundreds of horses and riders placed on a waitlist annually.

The 2026 National Horse Show will be held October 21–November 1 at the Tryon International Equestrian Center in Mill Spring, North Carolina, pending USEF approval. The National Horse Show offers premier equitation championships, including the NHS 3'3" Equitation Championship sponsored by the Hamel Foundation, the NHS 3' Adult Equitation Championships sponsored by Taylor Harris Insurance Services, as well as a full day of age-group equitation classes.

The National Horse Show is home to the $75,000 Hunter Classic and the NHS ASPCA Maclay National Championship presented by Chansonette Farm.

The National Horse Show is a 501(c)(3) organization supported by generous charitable donors, including the Hamel Family Foundation and the WSJ Foundation, among others. Sponsoring companies include Horseflight, Taylor Harris Insurance Services, John Deere, and many more.
